Men's Water Polo – from 10/30

Men’s Water Polo wrapped up their home schedule on Thursday, taking on visiting Black and Blue rival Long Beach State. The score sheet featured five different scorers* for UCI, but Long Beach proved to be too strong, coming away with a 16-6 win.

The team would have to pick themselves up quickly, with multiple matches slated for the weekend.

The Eaters went into the final weekend of the season looking to show off their improvements over the course of the campaign. However, things didn’t quite pan out as planned for the undermanned Eaters. UCI was swept over the weekend by UC Santa Barbara, Cal State Northridge, and University of San Diego. Despite the results, the team is optimistic about the improvements they’ve already made, and look to do better the next time they jump in the pool.

*Jeff Hamilton, Andrew Shutt, Ryan Tran, Andrew Rezk, and Alec Follmer all found the back of the net for UCI.

Women’s Rowing

Women’s Rowing traveled to Long Beach over the weekend to compete against Santa Barbara, Orange Coast College, and Long Beach State. Taking on their opponents’ “A” boats, UCI’s novice team held their own, while the varsity boat finished less than two minutes off the pace of the leaders. The result is promising for the Eaters, as they rowed at a rate of 8 strokes per minute slower than their opponents, showing exactly where they need to improve. Rowing next competes November 9 at the San Diego Fall Classic.
